GHOST RAIDERS

ICP FILMS - L.A.

Due to the coercion of STEPHEN TILLMAN (CIA Deputy of Operations) NATHAN EASTON (goes by Nate - Ex-CIA Field Operative) comes in from the cold to organize and train a team of miscreants (designated the GHOST RAIDERS).

These Ghost Raiders are to go under deep cover to try and find the necessary proof that MAJOR KIRI (corrupt Indonesian General) is in fact developing biological weapons to sell on the black market.

The second goal of the Ghost Raiders is to also try and bring back DAVID TILLMAN (Stephen Tillman's son - The Department of Defense covert operative who initially went to try and gather the necessary Intel).

In an effort to maintain the integrity of the operation Tillman has Nate set up the base of operations for the Ghost Raiders on an abandoned missile base somewhere off the coast of Thailand. It is here that Nate has to refine the raw skills of these eight individuals and gel them into a unified team. The Ghost Raiders are:

Regina Riccadonna (call sign: RUSH), Takahidi Ahara (cs: ASHES), Sarah Reid (cs: ORCHID), Russ James (cs: PATCH), Christopher Monroe (cs: BLAZE), GRACE TSUI (cs: VENUS - General Tillman's second-in command), and Jimmy Sutton (cs: CRASH).

So starts the training - physical conditioning, psychological profiling, and flight simulation to operate C-2's (latest & greatest in flying spy tech). As time passes the team members not only start to learn, but to bond, with even Nate and Grace finding common ground. The team's esprit de corps really becomes complete when Patch uses his medical genius and purloined DoD resources to enable Rush to walk.

In the final moments of the story the newly unified team sets out on their mission with a solid, well-rehearsed plan of action... but as with all things in life, nothing goes quite as expected. Fortunately improvisation is one of the tools the Ghost Raiders are armed with, and they successfully find the proof and save the son.

Because of their success the Ghost Raiders are given the opportunity to wipe clean the mistakes of their past and continue the cause of righteousness as part of the Department of Homeland Securities mission to stay on top of keeping the enemies of the United States of America from gaining any advantage.
